REPORT
OF THE
SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE,
For the year ending March 11, 1873.

DISTRICT No. 1.

The two schools of District No. 1 have been in session during the year thirty-four weeks, divided into three terms. The first term of the school containing the older pupils was kept by Miss Fanny G. Hurlburt, an excellent teacher. The second term of the same school was kept by Miss Matilda E. Mahan, with good success. The teacher for the third term of this school was Mr. Alfred W. Emery, under whose influence and faithfulness the school moved on admirably from the beginning of the term to its close. The school for the younger pupils has been kept during the entire year with unexceptionable satisfaction by Miss Susie F. Ellis. The Committee have never known a year when the District were under more obligation to its teachers than the past. The average number of pupils in each school is not far from thirty during each term. The amount of money annually accruing to the District by tax and Literary Fund, is about eleven hundred dollars. The lady teachers have been paid eight dollars per week, except during the first term of the school of younger pupils, when Miss Ellis received seven dollars per week. Mr. Emery was paid fifty dollars per month.

The District should make extensive repairs in its present school building, or erect a new one. We earnestly implore for these schools a greater and more general interest. If they are forgotten and neglected, our community of necessity retrogrades, and all that we most value is sure to suffer; while if they be properly cherished and supported, we have nothing which will more truly subserve our best interests and promote our welfare.

H. E. PARKER,
E. T. QUIMBY.

DISTRICT No. 2.

Miss E. N. Sawyer was employed ten weeks in summer, and acquitted herself very well. The school was well governed, and taught correctly.

Mrs. M. A. Gilbert was employed for a second term of ten weeks, apparently with unusual success. It would be difficult to train a school, so that it could appear to better advantage. The scholars moved with military precision, seemed ready for any question, sang beautifully, and not one had whispered during the term, a very uncommon fact.

DISTRICT No. 3.

Miss Emma Foster was employed five weeks in summer, and rendered good service, though little could be done in so short a time. Mr. William Guthrie taught the school in winter for ten weeks. He appeared to be well qualified for his duties in all respects.

DISTRICT No. 4.

Miss Ella J. Holt was employed for eight weeks in summer, and taught very finely. Miss Balch was employed in the fall term, but left after two weeks, on account of sickness, when Miss Baldwin took her place and performed her duties in an earnest, faithful manner, and with success. Miss Balch was again employed in winter, and devoted herself faithfully to her duties.

DISTRICT No. 5.

Miss A. P. Mahan was employed for two terms, and so marked was her success that she was employed to instruct the large scholars in winter.

Miss Maggie P. Whipple had charge of the smaller scholars, and managed them, as she always does, charmingly.

DISTRICT No. 6.

Miss S. O. Hatch had rendered such good service in this school in days past, that she was employed for two terms, but her health failed her before the close of the second term, which was a misfortune to the school as well as to herself.

In winter Miss L. A. Storrs had charge of the school, and proved herself faithful and true to herself and her duties, as she always does—and the school was profitable.

DISTRICT No. 7.

Miss Marcia A. Hurlbutt, though young, was employed for the summer term, and succeeded beyond our most sanguine expectations. If she does as well in future, she will rank among our best teachers.

Miss Laura A. Camp taught the fall term with so much success that she was employed for the winter term. She began with promise of much success.

DISTRICT No. 8.

Miss G. L. Arvin was employed in summer for eight weeks, and succeeded very well.

Miss L. E. Tilton taught the winter term with her usual success.

DISTRICT No. 9.

Miss G. Tucker was employed for both terms—fourteen weeks in all, and acquitted herself very well indeed.

DISTRICT No. 10.

This school was taught ten weeks in summer, successfully, by Miss Emma E. Camp, and twelve weeks in the fall by Miss Etta J. Tilton. The order and instruction of both teachers seemed to be good.

DISTRICT No. 11.

Miss E. J. Tilton rendered good service in this school for eight weeks, the first term, and Mrs. Carrie Hadley for seven weeks in the second term. The reading was very good.

DISTRICT No. 12.

Miss Julia W. Gile was employed for the first term, and the school appeared well at its close.

Miss A. M. Flanders had charge of it the second term, and gave promise of good to the school.

DISTRICT No. 13.

Such good service had Miss Ida J. Kellogg rendered in No. 7, in 1871, that she was employed to teach the first term in this District. Her success was very good indeed.

Miss S. O. Hatch was remembered for her former labors in this school, and to her charge it was committed for the second term. Her ability to teach and to win the affections of her pupils is more than usual.

DISTRICT No. 14.

It is a pleasure to report No. 14, for both terms. Miss Annie L. Merrill made her first attempt at teaching during the first term, and gave, it is said, entire satisfaction—what can be said of few teachers.

Miss S. W. Hurlbutt was employed for ten weeks. The service she rendered seemed to be unexceptionable. The scholars of this District are noble children, hardly whispered during the second term.

DISTRICT No. 15.

Miss S. W. Hurlbutt was employed eight weeks for the first term, and Miss Hattie N. Bailey seven for the second term. Their success was good,—equal to that of former terms.

DISTRICT No. 16.

Miss May Day had charge of this school for the first term, but for some reason the school was not a great success. Perhaps the fault was not entirely with one individual.

For the second term Miss Mary B. Tilton was employed. It was her first attempt at teaching. The school appeared well when we visited it. The snow drifts deprived us of our second visit. As the Tilton's always do well, we presume she did.

DISTRICT No. 17.

Miss Laura A. Storrs had charge of this school for the first term. The school was small, but she discharged her duties faithfully and successfully.

Miss Sarah A. Mason gave promise of much success at our first visit for the second term.

DISTRICT No. 18.

Miss S. W. Hurlbutt had charge of this school for its only term. As in all other schools, which she has taught, she was faithful—in this she was not found wanting. There is seldom any trouble in this school.

During the year our schools have averaged better than they did the last year. Still there is much room for improvement in teachers, scholars, committees, parents and guardians. Untiring, judicious efforts on the part of all concerned in them are necessary to secure excellence above that to which they have already attained. A moderate teacher will do quite well, if aided by parents and pupils. An excellent teacher must fail without that assistance.

During the six years that I have had the honor of serving as Committee, I have been over the Mountain six or eight times, and found no school in session. Schools often commence and continue weeks, and occasionally close without my knowledge. These facts speak of negligence on the part of Prudential Committees or teachers, or both. No change has been made in School Books during the year.

In closing my last report of the schools to the Town, I would express my thanks to all the friends for the uniform kindness with which I have been treated. Generally it has been a pleasure for me to discharge my duties, and I trust that my labors have not been in vain. Removing from town renders it necessary for me to resign my office, and leave the little that remains to be done to my successor.

FRANKLIN MERRIAM,

Superintending School Committee.

Hanover, Dec. 24, 1872.

In making my report as Superintending School Committee, I am well aware of the awkwardness of the position in which I am placed, being appointed to complete the labors commenced by my predecessor, and make the required returns to the Secretary of the Board of education, also my report to the town; had I known of the completeness of his report of many of the schools which I was required to visit, I should not have consented under any consideration to undertake the responsibility, as it would be a useless waste of time, and expense to the town. It is permitted us to predict of the end from the beginning, but the judgment upon the case is not usually rendered until the evidence is all given in.

The schools that I have visited with one or two exceptions, presented a fine appearance, and gave good evidence of faithful effort, both of teachers and scholars to discharge faithfully their several duties. Of these schools I would respectfully report:

DISTRICT No. 3. This school, though small in numbers, ranks high in scholarship. All classes examined, acquitted themselves satisfactorily; good order and attention to studies were the features of the day.

DIST. No. 4.—In this school, are some good scholars, but good scholars will not always do themselves justice if the teacher be lacking in energy, or that interest for the greatest good of her pupils, that would allow her to accept anything short of correctness in recitations or explanations.

DIST. No. 5.—Miss Mahan's school appeared very well. Recitations were marked by their promptness and, in the main, correctness. This district has good reasons to consider itself fortunate in securing the services of Miss Whipple for the small school. Her pupils can never lose what they have already gained, and could they be favored with as faithful instruction for a few more years would take a high stand as scholars. There are several of the little ones who have given no occasion for reproof, neither have they whispered during the term. Their names are Lydia Owen, Jennie Camp, Susie Camp, Alice Sanborn, Eddie Merrill, Sammie Hayes, Edward Cole, Allie Cole, Fred W. Towle.

DIST. No. 6.—When visited, this school was in good working condition, and if so small a school as this does not make a good degree of improvement, there must be a lack either with teacher or scholars.

DIST. No. 7.—Although somewhat broken up by sickness yet this school has made commendable improvement. Good order and quietness pervaded the school-room, and not a whisper allowed to escape since the first week of the term.

DIST. No. 8.—Compares favorably with other schools in town. Classes in arithmetic passed a good examination, having a good knowledge of the ground gone over.

DIST. No. 13.—According to the teacher's representation of the condition of the school at its commencement, the scholars must have made great improvement in the studies pursued. All classes did well, but the class in Grammar and Parsing acquitted itself with great credit.

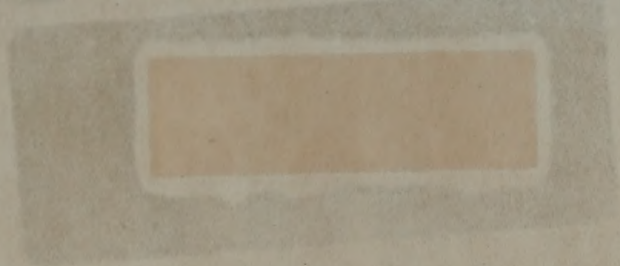

DIST. No. 17.—Miss Mason seems to realize the teacher's responsibility, by the faithful discharge of her duties.

DIST. No. 18.—It is unfortunate for the scholars that they are able to have but one term of school a year, and all the more need of close application and good instruction, which last I think they have appreciated.

Superintending School Committee.
